Office comfort contributes to an engaging and productive workday. CNA's office ergonomics services are designed to assist our policyholders in developing and sustaining an office ergonomics program. CNA offers convenient ergonomics consulting service options to fit your business needs.

Management and Training

A sustainable office ergonomics program with strong training components is essential to the ergonomics process. CNA Risk Control professionals guide our policyholders on development and implementation of office ergonomics programs for their workplace.

Onsite Assessment

CNA's onsite office ergonomics assessment includes a comprehensive review of the employee's office workstation. The assessment focuses on improving the workstation setup for optimal comfort and performance. CNA Risk Control will work with you to schedule the onsite office ergonomics assessment and provide workstation comfort improvement guidance.

Virtual Assessment

Our policyholders can opt for the virtual version of the office ergonomics assessment. A CNA Risk Control professional will work with the employee requesting the assessment to schedule a convenient virtual consultation and review the office workstation setup.

Remote Worker Assessment

To maximize flexibility and convenience for policyholders with employees working from home, CNA offers the Remote Worker Office Ergonomics Assessment as a service without an in-person visit. Our Risk Control professional will work with you and the employee requesting the assessment to collect information via a detailed questionnaire and photos about the employee's workstation and workday.

A customized Ergonomics Report detailing the assessment's findings and recommendations will be provided for all office ergonomics assessment options after reviewing the employee's needs.
